Ignite the Fire

I want to know Christ and the power of his resurrection and the fellowship of sharing in his sufferings, becoming like him in his death, and so, somehow, to attain to the resurrection from the dead.

Service and Fellowship

Community projects open year right

Highlights

- ☛ Hugs and handshakes were a common sight as friendships were renewed.
- ☛ The annual faculty and staff vs. students softball game was a crowd pleaser, especially for the faculty, who won, as usual.
- ☛ Hours of mixer games and listening to presentations on how to be a better student broke the ice for freshmen anxious about the new semester.
- ☛ Various projects around the community ignited a fire around campus to dedicate the year to Christian service.
- ☛ Wildcat Creek was the location for an evening of food and fellowship at the picnic, and Milk Truck led a time of praise and worship.
- ☛ For many students, this was a time to plan schedules and enroll in their classes. For those who had pre-enrolled, they had their chance to write out that great big check.

Ready for any pitch that might come his way, Justin Ostrander waits for a strike, as Ned Price umpires the student vs. faculty and staff softball game.

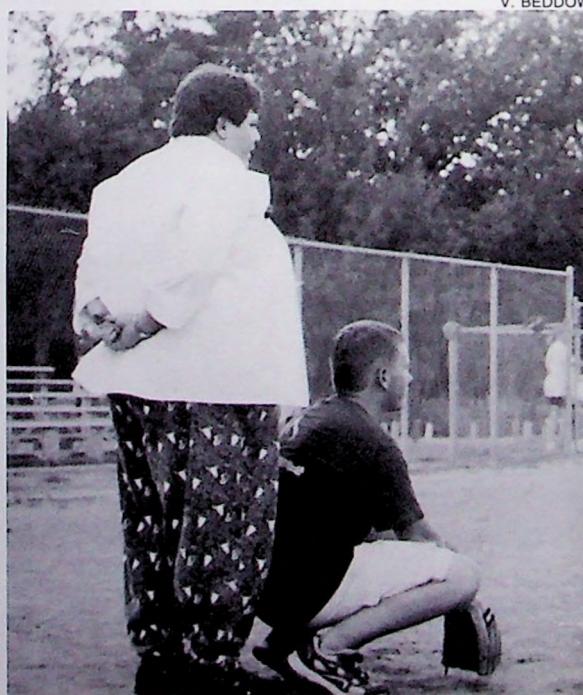

During job hunting season, Alisha Caulley speaks to Dr. Paddock in hopes of becoming his work study.

Freaky Friday at the Farm

Creative costumes rule the Barn Party

Highlights

- ➡ A mechanical bull turned many away from future careers as pro rodeo riders.
- ➡ Many hours of planning and preparation on the part of Student Activities Committee made the evening possible.
- ➡ Artistic abilities were stretched to the limit by the requirement of a costume for admission.
- ➡ Several famous figures made appearances, including the cast of Grease, Mulder and Scully of the X-Files, The Brady Bunch, and one of the Blues Brothers.
- ➡ Partygoers were entertained by a spontaneous live World Championship Wrestling match. Mr. Snyder was thought to be cheering the loudest.
- ➡ The Swihart barn was filled to capacity, and strangely dressed people were standing in line to get in.

Burning to Serve

All-school mission trip makes a difference

Highlights

- ☞ The bus broke down twenty minutes into the trip.
- ☞ The great challenge of routing dozens of people to the three locations was overcome.
- ☞ While staying at Johnson County Christian Church Saturday night, everyone had the chance to discuss how they had seen lives changed.
- ☞ Attending services at Christian Fellowship Baptist Church was such a unique and dynamic experience that many wanted to return.
- ☞ Christian brothers and sisters grew closer together while serving others.
- ☞ Reflecting on the experience, those who participated could see that they had made a difference, especially in the lives of the children of the community.

D. GODDARD

"Seeing the students and Rusty (Thornley) and all the people at Christian Fellowship together making crafts, playing with kids, being the body of Christ was a real highlight of the trip."

Season of Joy

Christmas activities keep people busy

Highlights

☞ Christmas Banquet, held at the Wareham Opera House, was a chance to get dressed up and celebrate the joyous season.

☞ At the banquet, the Barnabas Awards recognizing encouraging attitudes, were presented to Jim Wilburn and Jeni Keeton. Applause lasted for several minutes.

☞ Faculty and staff served drinks before the program while praise and worship was led by Chris Herrington and James Wright.

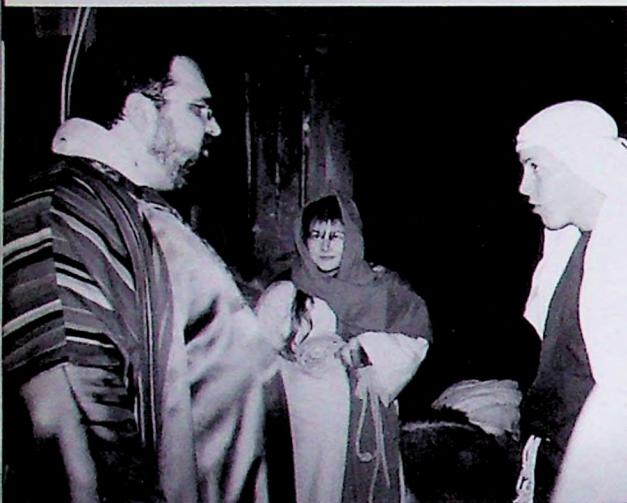

☞ The second annual vespers concert at First Lutheran Church was a chance to recognize the real meaning of Christmas through music and scripture readings.

☞ Many faculty and staff members opened their wonderfully decorated homes to share their favorite holiday treats with the student body.

Acting the part of Mary, Becky Dillon sings to her new child, while Robert Manore (Joseph) and Jeremy Albert (a shepherd) watch.

Students participate in Bethlehem Revisited

Highlights

☞ Bethlehem Revisited was a cooperative effort. It was planned by Wellspring and supported by Grace Baptist Church.

☞ Wellspring is a group of Christians who have studied and shared a commitment of community for 18 years.

☞ Many students helped to staff the event. They set up props, acted, sang, worked the welcome booth, and supervised parking.

☞ Bethlehem was revisited by 800 people this year, and had a staff of 100.

☞ People came individually, as families, and in groups to live the experience. Some people got so involved that they became part of the scene.

☞ Many international students came. One man from Jordan said, "It is like walking on a path back home."

Various people made up this large angel choir, which could be seen and heard near the top of the hill.

Party Like it's 1999

Relaxation and fun spice up the weekends

Highlights

- ☞ Various committees in Student Council and around campus sponsored several all school parties.
- ☞ The MCC Women provided ice cream for the back-to-school extravaganza.
- ☞ While students enjoyed the ice cream, they were entertained by a "talent" show and an MCC version of The Newlywed Game.
- ☞ Some faculty members discovered unusual yard art after a "Bigger and Better" scavenger hunt to local Greek houses.
- ☞ Professional wrestling made a stop on campus for an evening of rowdiness and fun.
- ☞ 1999 was celebrated early at a mid-December New Year's Eve party.
- ☞ The Denver Broncos had a larger than usual population of fans on campus after the Super Bowl party.

A Heart for Prayer

Students have a chance to enhance their spiritual walk

Highlights

- Spiritual Feast Week was held in both the Fall and Spring semesters.
- For the prayer walk, students could sign up for 15 to 20 minute time slots to pray for their school, government, and whatever else was on their hearts.
- This event was sponsored by the Student Spiritual Life and Encouragement Committee.
- It began and ended with a time of praise and worship.
- K-State, local churches, and other Christian colleges across the country were invited to participate in the activities.
- Spiritual Feast week had a different theme each day, such as prayer, worship, fasting, and fellowship.

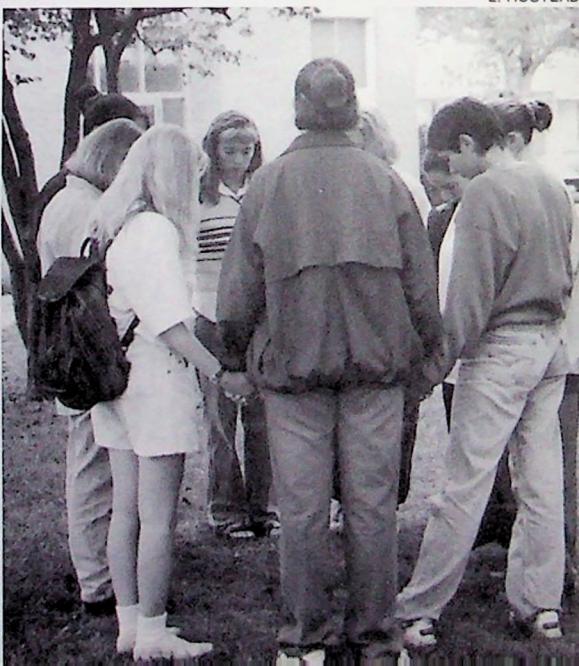

Being true prayer warriors, these groups of students earnestly present their requests and praises to God.

The praise and worship times highlight the event. Attendee Carol Beeson explains, "Woman's World is like an oasis for me. I go to it tired, drained, and thirsty. I leave sleepy, but filled and refreshed... empowered to encourage and serve."

"The prayer, love, and thoughtful planning of this event was made evident from the moment we entered! Thank you for bringing to fruition 12 months of careful planning! God used this time; He touched me."

-Cindy Bogue

During a general session, heads are bowed in prayer as part of a praise and worship session.

A highlight each year is the awarding of Woman's World scholarships to female students. Four were selected to receive the $750 scholarships: Kerry Batten, Diahann Frazier, Katrina Skinner, and Elissa Grimm.

"The reason I came is two-fold: the fellowship is wonderful. It is great to be in a place with people who believe in the same goals I do. It is safe. The second reason is that spiritually, I am encouraged to remember to be a part of God's eternal army."

-Natalie Holdren

Longings of the Heart

Woman's World: A Continuing Tradition

Highlights

→ Woman's World is an annual retreat designed to encourage women in their spiritual walk. The first, in 1978, had 143 in attendance; this year's retreat brought 436 women from as far as Arizona and Illinois.

→ The weekend was planned and prepared by the MCC Women, an auxiliary group of the college.

→ Carol Kent, founder and president of Speak Up With Confidence seminars was this year's keynote speaker.

→ MCC students became involved many ways. Many women attended the event with their mothers; upperclass women presided at seminars; and the music ensembles performed.

→ A first-time event this year was the Friday afternoon Tea Party. The Ballroom tables were turned into tea tables and the lights were lowered so that the women could enjoy a cup of tea and conversation.

Celebrating the Century

Spring Banquet full of food, magic, and dancing

Highlights

- ☞ The theme for the Spring Banquet was Celebrating the Century. Students could dress from their favorite era.
- ☞ The banquet was held at Houston Ballroom located downtown in Manhattan.
- ☞ There were about 150-160 people who attended.
- ☞ Rex Gets, a self-employed magician from Manhattan, was the main entertainment for the evening.
- ☞ Awards were given out to students for Most Outrageous Dress, Best Decade Representative, Best Dressed, Best Male/Female, and Most Creative.
- ☞ A slide show of pictures given by students was shown.
- ☞ A dance was held to close the night's activities.

Skip Day gave students time to have fun and relax

Highlights

- ☞ Skip Day was held at Living Water Ranch on the banks of Tuttle Creek Reservoir.
- ☞ There was morning praise and worship to kick off Skip Day.
- ☞ A free brown bag lunch was served at the ranch, and then a barbecue was held at Ned's for dinner.
- ☞ People could go canoeing out on the lake if they wanted to, or take a nature walk.
- ☞ Classes competed against each other in games of softball throughout the day.

Graduation results in reflection and celebration

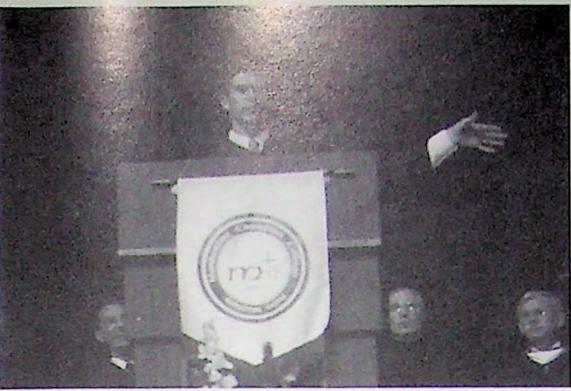

Highlights

- There were 41 graduates in fall and 40 in spring.
- Dr. Rick Grover, senior minister with Woodlawn Christian Church in Knoxville, Tennessee, gave the address at fall graduation.
- At spring graduation, Paul Wilson gave the address.
- The music ensembles performed an anthem at each ceremony and led congregational singing.
- Each semester a banquet was held in honor of the graduates.
- After the ceremonies, receptions were held as a time for family and friends to congratulate the graduates.

Serve

Between classes and goofing off, every student was required to devote a small portion of their time serving others. Though it was a requirement for a degree, Christian Service often became more than that. As they dug their hands into their ministries, students were able to find where God might want them to serve in their future careers and lifestyles.

I am planting a church in Ogden. Some people have asked me what kind of church it is going to be, and I tell them it's for everyone. They can come as they are. We're going to start from the basic roots and work up as more people come in.

STANDING Faithful

It is required that those who have been given a trust must prove faithful I Cor 4:2

After months of prayer and planning, Standing Faithful, a three-year partnership campaign for campus development, was launched. During its second year, funds seemed to be accumulating on schedule. The primary focus however, has been to tell broadly the MCC story and the vision of a renovated Jolliffe Hall and campus area.

Alumni special events were held in six cities around Kansas as well as in Arizona, Colorado, Indiana, Nebraska, and Iowa. These included presentations by Triumphant Sound, Ken Cable, other campaign staff, and a host of alumni testimonies.

Additionally, twenty-five area church meetings were hosted throughout the Midwest. Church representatives were invited to ask questions so that they could explain the plans to their home congregations.

Through these events made possible by the hard work of the campaign staff, Standing Faithful has shared a vision of the future with many people.

A great year for volleyballers

The MCC Volleyball team enjoyed a great season this year. Coach Shawn Thompson said, "I was very proud of how the girls finished this season and how they played as a team. You never know what kind of talent you're going to get at the beginning of the year, but they did a great job of coming together and playing as a team."

According to Shelby Wertz, "It's amazing to me the way we were able to come from entirely different backgrounds with different playing styles and still be successful."

Soccer team goes to nationals

The MCC soccer team enjoyed an excellent season. They won the regional tournament, earning their spot in the National Tournament, where they finished eighth in the nation. When asked why he thought the team was so successful, Coach Rick Wright said, "They played together as a team. The Lord blessed us with good chemistry." Both Wright and player Drew Lamb agreed that the most memorable moment of the year was when they came from behind beating Ozark to win regionals. "The fans ran onto the field when there was still another minute left to play!" said Lamb.

Despite a tough season the women's basketball team enjoyed their year. Even though the team had its hardships, including a lack of depth with only seven players, they said that they enjoyed the fellowship of playing together. Ila Mawhirter said, "The fellowship was excellent! The amount of unity we had on the court reflected in our play."

The team did a good job at maintaining a positive attitude during the season. Coach Scott McFall said "They (the players) maintained good attitudes. It would have been easy to give up, but they didn't." Even though it wasn't easy that's what they did, playing together for God and for fellowship.

Crusaders shoot for success

The men's basketball team enjoyed a great season this year. They finished the year with a 21-7 record overall, and a 13-1 conference record. They won both the regular season championship and the tournament championship for the first time in school history. According to Freshman Dan Crusinberry they were successful because they worked together. "We were really close. It helped our ability to score and we kept in mind who we were doing this for and didn't let it get to our heads. We were doing it for Christ."

Head Coach Shawn Condra said "I was pleased that they played as a team this year. The guys really came together." By playing for Christ, and keeping a humble attitude they found victory.

Taking a chance, A.J. Hahn shoots for three.

Dave VanDonge runs past his teammates as his name is called for the starting line-up.

Intramural softball is a hit

Intramural softball was a big hit this year. Many students participated in the games, which were held at City Park. Everyone had a lot of fun. When asked what the best thing about Intramural softball was sophomore Josh Nelson said, "I enjoyed the fellowship and had a lot of fun." Jerod Brummer said, "I liked hanging out with Mike Carroll and the rest of my team." Fellowship played an important role, as lasting friendships were made. Freshman Brad Lenhardt said he remembered "Not everybody showed up, but we still had a great time." Teamwork, friendship, and good times sum up intramurals. - D. Goddard

Students know how to have fun.

How did students escape the stresses of homework and classes? Any way possible! While some were having fun in organized sports, many were finding other ways to spend their spare time.

Traditional recreation such as Frisbee, soccer, basketball and football were all common sights. However, there were many other creative activities such as extreme skateboarding, skydiving, wiffle golf, and polar bear swimming. With so much going on, there was never a dull moment.

As one body, the students at Manhattan Christian College built long lasting relationships with a common goal, to know Christ and become more like Him.

Together, their mission was to "Ignite the Fire." Whether it be in their own lives, the lives around them, on campus, or in the community, the students kept this mission in mind as they strived daily to live for Christ.

At the House of Phoebe, Christie Rainer, Tina Downing, and Emily Melton enjoy their large living room as a place to relax and chat.

The RAs of Kenoyer go cosmic for a night of Cosmic Bowling at Memory Lanes.

Living in the dorms is great! Never again will I be able to bond with Christian women like this. Lisa (Smith) does so much to make this experience the best possible.

- Lori Hustead

Freshmen and Sophomores were required to live in the dorms. For the women of MCC, this meant home was Kenoyer Hall. With the large living rooms and freshly painted bedrooms of Kenoyer's suites, the ladies of MCC enjoyed much nicer surroundings than at many other colleges.

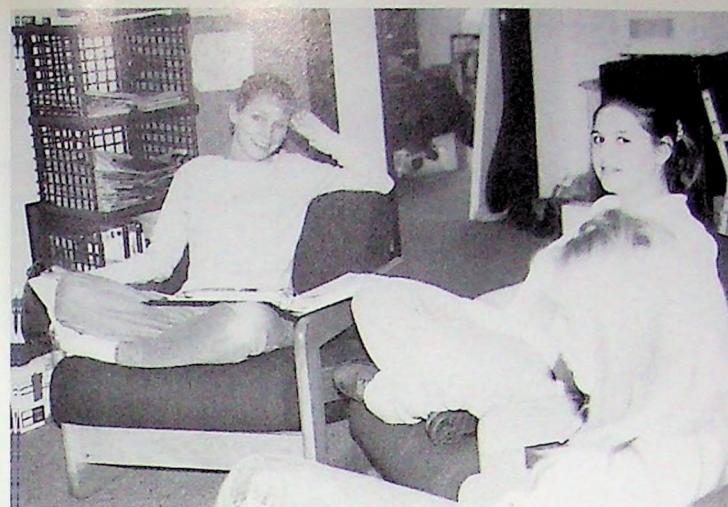

Upperclass women were given the option of living in apartments or in the upperclass women dorms: Rebekah and Phoebe House. Emily Melton said she loved living in Phoebe House because "it's close to school and there are no monthly bills." She also said she loved her housemates and enjoyed being able to bond with them, making new relationships.

Whether a woman was new to college life, or an old pro, the ladies of MCC were given many opportunities to build spiritual relationships with other Christian women through the homes they lived in.

What would life be like without Pizza Shuttle? Cory Beale and Jake Hargadine don't want to find out.

What happens when nearly fifty fun-loving guys live in one building together? Anything! Such was the story of the men of Johnson Hall and Daniel House, who were known for hard work and good fun.

Though at times it seemed as if video games were never quiet and horsing around never stopped, these guys also knew what it meant to get down to business.

It was not unusual to see a few guys meeting together to pray or study at all hours of the day or night. Relationships based on trust and respect were developed so that everyone had somewhere he could turn for support.

The pranks and fun will long be remembered, and the relationships started in guys' housing will endure many years.

I'll remember the camp-ins and campouts because we slept at the bell tower and got in trouble for it. The camp-ins were just stupid fun.

Hello Mum,
Here I am with P150—
we're in the Rockies! These guys are great;
they have been a real blast to work with and the van only breaks down when I'm not here!

Dan Colema

Just hanging out, and building relationships is the best part of spending so much time together in rehearsals and on the road.

Rehearsing for four hours per week in class was rather time-consuming, and sometimes challenging, yet most of the time Singers were willing and ready to lift up their voices to God in preparation for concerts and tour.

For the Celebration Singers, led by Laurie Forsberg and Ian Coleman, tour was a great chance to demonstrate all their hard work over the year. Through tour, ensembles were able to share their talents all over the country.

Student Council

The Student Council consisted of students elected by their classmates to be leaders. There were the four officers, two representatives from each class, and a representative from each student group, or committee. StuCo allotted monies to the groups and presented various services to the school.

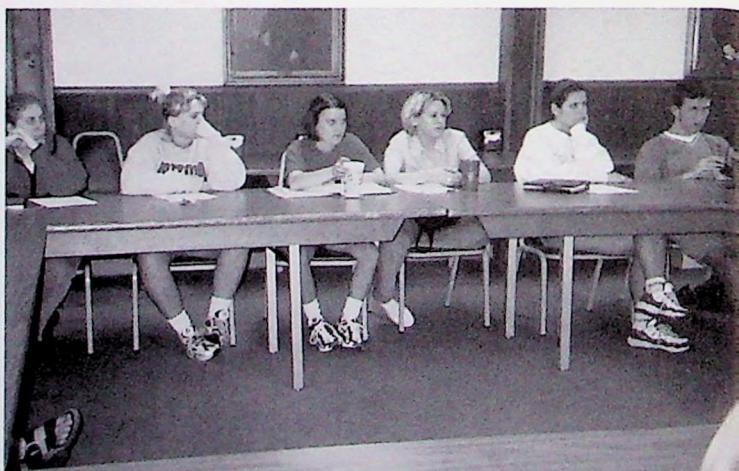

Jeni Keeton, Kerry Batten, and Amy Seehorn listen carefully to the discussions at hand.

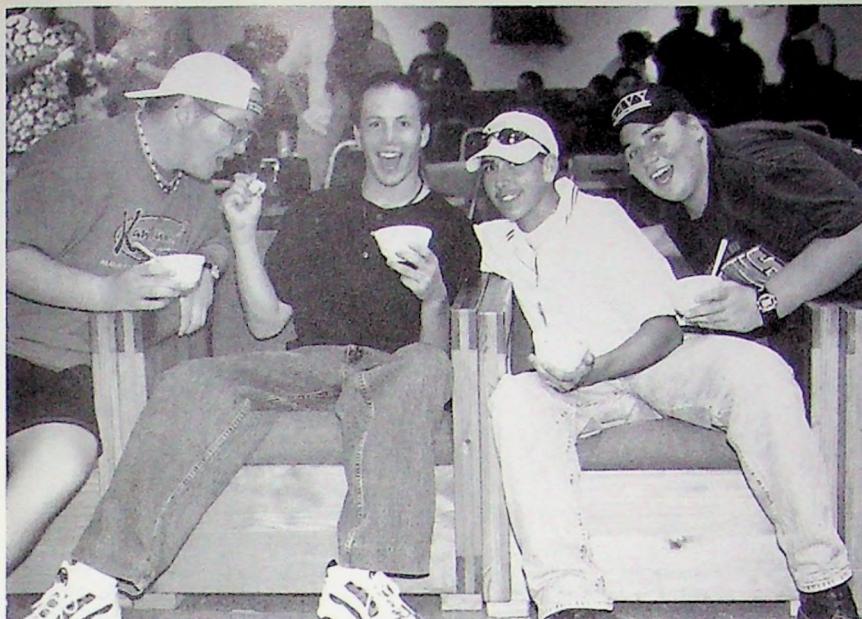

Eric Sanford as President, Chris Taylor as Vice President, Chris Herrington as Secretary, and Kylie Weirich as Treasurer worked hard to make the year as productive as possible.

Unifying the leaders of various groups on campus, StuCo helps focus the vision of the student body.

Nothing brings out school spirit like ice cream and good friends at the Spirit Club Banana Split Party.

Spirit Club

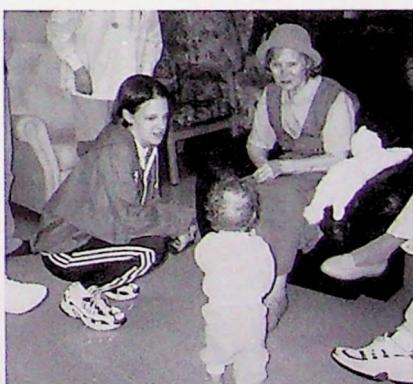

The Spirit Club spent their time encouraging the athletes and other groups. They held parties, made posters, and did whatever they could to raise school spirit, and thus bring the school together as one body.

As a part of their Community Service, David Pearson, Destine and Wednesday Christian, Dianna Salmon, Andrea Harris, Jessica Burch, and Shannon Moser sing at a local nursing home.

Sharing the joys of youth, Andrea Harris and Wednesday Christian visit with a friend.

The Community Service Committee strived toward just that. They visited nursing homes and sponsored food and clothes drives, as well as other services to the community.

Outreach

The Outreach Committee concentrated on service outside their comfort zones. Their year included an All-School Mission Trip to Kansas City, KS, and a smaller mission trip to Saltillo, Mexico.

Evening is a great opportunity to relax and make new friends, as Kristin Bradford, Sonrisa Rowh, Morgen Bush, and Shelby Wertz discover during the Outreach trip to Mexico.

The Mexico team consisted of Morgen Bush, Kevin Meyers, Shelby Wertz, Mandy Jaggard, Chris Taylor, Angie Murry, Sonrisa Rowh, Kristin Bradford, Denise Bennett, Amy Beck, Sara Dean, Anita Robinson, Renee Seek, Vanessa Robles, Nick Gonzales, and Justin Ostrander, and their new friends.

No classes and no worries. Chris Taylor, Michelle Goebel, Eric Sanford, John O'Neal, Mark Webb, and Amy Porter relax in the sun at Living Water Ranch for Skip Day.

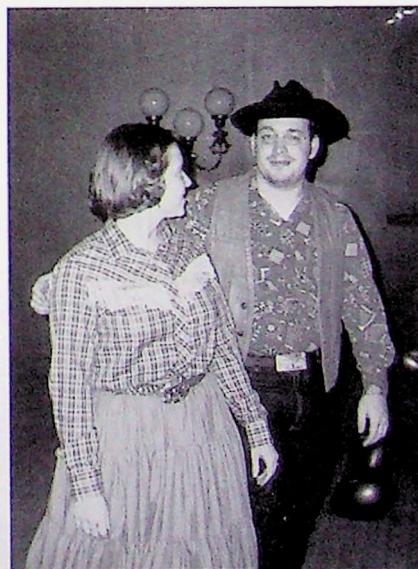

Student Activities

The Student Activities Committee tried (and succeeded) to make life fun for students by planning numerous parties and activities, such as Skip Day, and the Barn Party.

Howdy, pardner! Doug Newby and Kerry Batten stroll into the Huston Street Ballroom for the Spring Banquet, put on by the Jr. and Freshmen classes.

Get Hot For God

"To reach, restore, and maintain youth for Christ." This mission statement of Get Hot For God has guided the group through projects and events throughout the years. In last year's calendar were lock-ins, evangelism workshops, worship sessions called Microwaves, and many other events. The non-profit group is an approved Christian Service activity and is open to anyone who shares its vision.

Taking a break, Erica Burton, Dawn Palmer, and others relax after an afternoon of hard work at the home of a prisoner's family.

Prison Ministries

Prison Ministries had a vision of reaching out to prisoners and their families. Their goal was to provide for the people's immediate needs, as well as to draw them into a closer relationship with Jesus Christ. Fifteen to twenty people accomplished this through trips to prisons to develop relationships with inmates and by doing whatever they could to help prisoners' families.

Helping the families of prisoners was a major goal of Prison Ministries. Mike Kizzee and Brian Brunson carry off trash after a fire damaged the home of one family.

Behind bars to spread the Gospel, Tony Armstrong, Brian Brunson, Rusty Thornley, and Mike Kizzee develop relationships with inmates.

Focusing on the 3 1/2 hour drive radius around Manhattan, the group traveled to correctional facilities in Missouri, Kansas, and Oklahoma, stopping at some interesting places along the way.

At Fall Festival of Faith, teens from various churches competed in the flag football tournament.

Ad-Team

Ad-team is an organization that helps the Admissions Office. They give tours of the campus and lead weekend activites involving high school or middle school kids. They helped with events such as, Fall Festival of Faith, Bible Bowl Tournament, Middle school Summitt, and even went to churches to lead lock-ins for their youth groups.

Kyriou Players

How does the story Jesus Christ fit into our world today? The Kyriu players, a theatrical troop led by Dr. Bill Watt, demonstrated one possibility through a production of Christ in the Concrete City, during Passion Week. The stage of All Faiths Chapel became the canvas on which a portrait of "the greatest murder ever committed" was portrayed through drama and music.

Cast Members were Nathan King, Chelsea Brandenburg, Katrina Skinner, Catherine Watt, Rebekah Wright, and Bill Watt.

Taking on a new identity, Rebekah Wright holds still while Dr. Watt glues on a beard.

The music that accented the play was arranged and partly written by faculty and students.

Unspoken Message

Fluid movements delicately choreographed to inspirational music gave Unspoken Message a unique ministry opportunity. Through dance they spoke of God's love and peace in a fresh and unique way. Many ladies rehearsed long hours to polish their silent sermon, and they presented it wherever they could, including churches, and campus activities. Everywhere, hearts were touched without ever saying a word.

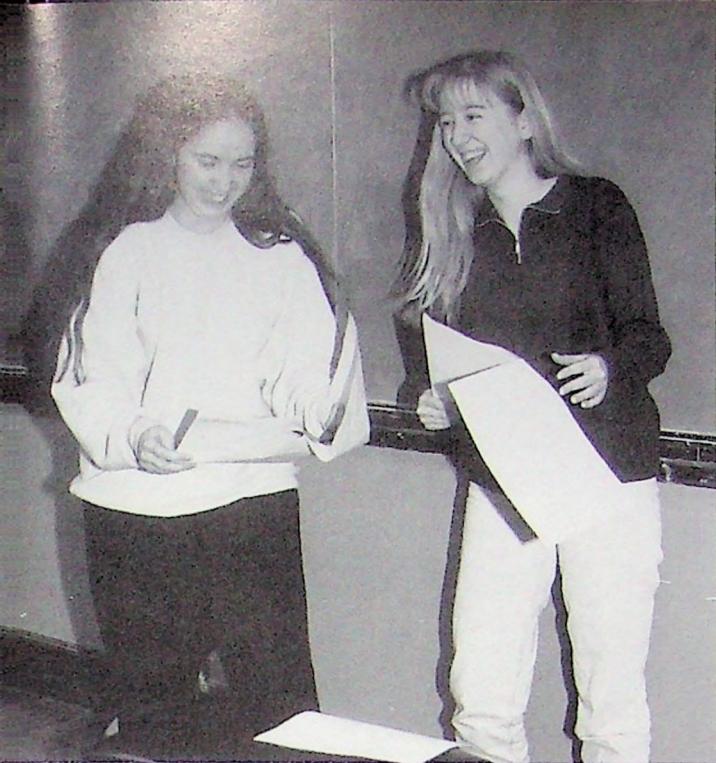

Linda MacKenzie, Harmony Muren, and Susan Kirby express their message through dance.

Drama Team

Laughter quickly fades to silence as a humorously presented point hits home. The Drama Team has once again left its mark. This volunteer ministry, which met once a week and performed at several churches and campus events, was known for taking the wacky and twisting it into wonder. They worked to present the Gospel message through illustrations from culture and life that could be comprehended and enjoyed by all.

Camp Team

The two Camp Teams were sent out all over the country to work at various camps during the summer. The people on camp team were selected through an application/interview process and then went through a vigorous training, where they learned how to deal with youth. They prepared skits, praise and worship, testimonies, and devotionals and basically spent the summer praising God.

This team is made up of Anthony Inchaustegui, Constance Pearce, Chris Taylor, and Kendra Hinkle.

I'm really excited about it. We really focus on ministry in our training. I'm ready to be completely drained and exhausted and filled with God's Spirit every day.
